Irish Concert Given By Eganville Talent

EGANVILLE, March 18. — (Special)—St. Patrick's Day was fittingly observed by Eganville's Irish population.

Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Henry Maloney in St. James Church, with Rev. Adrian Flynn of Pembroke as deacon and Rev. E. T. McNally sub-deacon. The sermon was delivered by Father Flynn.

In the evening the annual Irish concert was held in St. James' auditorium. Always an outstanding entertainment, this year's program was no exception.

Irish songs, old and new, were sung by the mixed choirs of St. James R.C. continuation school. The step-dancing of Fred St. Cyr and the solos of Master Joseph McKeenan added real Irish twist to the program.

Under the direction of Father Maloney a three-act play "The Bells of Shannon", was presented by the St. James Dramatic Society. Those taking part were: the Misses Mary McKeen, Margaret Foran and Mrs. J. T. Gallagher; Messrs. Pat Ryan, William Goulet, James Foy, James Howard, John Howard and Fred Buhlman.

The Misses Peggy Killeen, and Sheila McGrath were pianists for the evening as well as organists at the mass.

PARIS, March 18.—A French Government spokesman said after a cabinet meeting yesterday that France is in favor of a meeting of the French, British and United States foreign ministers within the next few months.

SOVIET VIEWPOINT.

LONDON, March 18.—The Soviet journal, New Times, branded the United States case against Valentine Gubitchev on spy charges as a "clumsy manoeuvre" to distract attention from the exposure of American spy rings in Eastern Europe.
