

Donohue-Maloney Wedding Attracts Wide Interest

A wedding of interest throughout South Renfrew County took place on Saturday morning in the Church of Saint Francis Xavier, Renfrew, when Rosemary Ann, daughter of Mr. James A. Maloney, QC, and Mrs. Maloney, became the bride of Mr. James Edwin Donohue, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donohue of Renfrew.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Dr. Martin James Maloney of Eganville, who represented South Renfrew in the Federal Parliament for several years.

For the occasion, the altar of the Church of St. Francis Xavier was adorned with white and pink gladioli. White ribbon streamers marked the guest pews.

The Mass was said by the Rev. Henry J. Maloney, the bride's uncle, who was served at the altar by a cousin, Mr. Robert J. Bedard, of St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. Present in the sanctuary was the Monsignor James N. George of Douglas, Ont.

Rev. Sister St. James presided at the organ. The soprano soloist, Miss Dorothy Gagne, sang "Panis Angelicus" and Schubert's "Ave Maria".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Christopher Mullin, of Pembroke, as matron of honor, and by two bridesmaids: a sister, Miss Adair Maloney; and Miss Mabel Donohue, a sister of the bridegroom. Miss Cathy Maloney, younger sister of the bride, was the flower girl. The best man was Mr. Arnold Donohue and the usher Mr. Gerald Donohue. Mr. Thomas Prince, Mr. Leslie McHugh and Mr. Christopher Mullin.

For her gown, the bride chose white chantilly lace over nylon net tulle. The finely pleated front was of nylon tulle and the long, full peplum of chantilly lace formed into a chapel train. The bodice and sleeves were close fitting. A tiny jewel-

Harry—Shoemaker

Chalmers United Church in Guelph, on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Daris Shoemaker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Sheldon Shoemaker, of Guelph, and Mr. Norman Alfred Harry, of Kingston, son of Mrs. J. C. Harry and the late Mr. Harry, of Belleville.

Rev. D. G. Paton officiated, and Miss Elizabeth Ashbury played the organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ann Shoemaker, as bridesmaid. Mr. Robert Anglin was best man, and ushers were Mr. Vernon C. MacCrae and Mr. Emil Cerwenko.

The bride wore a waist-length gown of snow-flake white shadow lace and tulle, a ruffled net inset enhancing the molded bodice of lace over satin. The full skirt of lace was fashioned in redingote style offset with scallops to the hemline revealing a wide span of finely pleated tulle. A long-sleeved lace cutaway bolero accented with a tiny standup collar was worn over the dress. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Donohue will live in Renfrew.
