in St Norbert. However, in time this changed into a majority English speaking population. In 1856-1857, a first church, made of logs, was built. A brick church replaced this one in 1883-1885 and was consecrated by Monsignor Fabre in 1887. The frescoes of the choir in this second church was by Constantin Tauffenbach. In 1929, the building fell victim to a fire, and a new church was built in 1937. The priest at the time, Fr. Clovis Paillé, was entrusted with the inner design. On January 11, 1905, it was the presbytery's turn to succumb to the flames, though it took very little time to replace the building. "L'Asile Richot", better known as "La Crèche" (the nursery), welcomed orphans from 1903-1948, under the care and supervision of the Sisters of Mercy.
